The Longest Night on 3rd Silo Records (2004)

"Americana Powerhouse", "In their over 10-year service, singer/songwriter Jeff Roberson and his band have become a guiding light on the local Americana scene."

- Mike Breen, Cincinnati City Beat, 06/04

The band's upcoming show, aptly named The Longest Night for the winter solstice on Dec. 21, will be a celebration of that time and energy, a pursuit of intimacy that you can't always achieve with electric guitars.

- Kevin Hollo, Cin Weekly 12/03

String Band on 3rd Silo Records (2002)

11 songs

"String Band finds the band's edges exquisitely whittled into a direct point."

- Mike Breen, Cincinnati City Beat, 12/12/02

"String Band is a portrait of a group heading into some interesting new directions, and fans of rootsy, contemporary music should come along for the ride."

- Larry Nager, Cincinnati Enquirer, 12/06/02

"String Band shows off the band's fantastic performing and songwriting talents well."

Matt Shimmer, Indieville, 04/2003

"darkly organic country rock that evokes as much Carter Family as Flying Burrito Brothers."

Steve Graham, Sponicazine 04/2003

"played with conviction and skill -- two qualities Len's Lounge has in spades."

Brett McCallon, Splendid Ezine, 03/12/03

Road Dog and More Train Songs on Northern Aggression Records (2001)

14 songs

"Roberson's songwriting is the focal point, and the record beautifully showcases his rich, natural writing instincts...if you're a fan of well-played, well-arranged Country and Folk, you should definitely check out this album."

- Mike Breen, Cincinnati City Beat

"these tracks are the sand and grit that cut to the quick of the soul."

- Alternative Country

"Len's Lounge mixes up slices of Americana storytelling and post-modern soundscapes"

- Sean L. Rhiney, cincymusic.com

a well produced thoughtful record that deserves a place in every thinking person's americana collection.
